From Rev. John W. McGivern, Administrator

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Today's Gospel passage is from the evangelist John. It is from the fifteenth chapter and is part of what we call the "Last Discourse." Time had run out. Our Lord's death was imminent and he now imparted his message to his disciples with a sense of urgency and encouragement. Thus, we hear: "If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love."

How interesting that our Lord would have us posit love and obedience as something that is connected. Modern hearers are sometimes challenged by the language of obedience. For many, such language is confronting. We bristle at the notion that our self-determination might be threatened, and we can (erroneously) believe that such thinking is an impediment to our human freedom.

There are many threats to human freedom. There are those who live under the rule of oppression. Throughout the world still today, there are people who are deprived of the ability to worship freely.

Some of the most important twentieth century writing about human freedom came from the victims of the Nazi death camps. Read Elie Wiesel's Night, Etty Hillesum's An Interrupted Life, Dietrich Bonhoeffer's The Cost of Discipleship or his Meditations on the Cross, or Fr. Alfred Delp's Prison Writings. These amazing human beings had very divergent histories. Wiesel was a Romanian Jew. Hillesum lived a privileged life as a Dutch Jew. Bohoeffer was a German Lutheran minister. Delp was a Roman Catholic and Jesuit priest.

In all of the writings of these individuals, among the many things that one learns is that human freedom is a gift that no shackles, degradation, punishment or torture can thwart. Human freedom is ultimately about personal choice and obedience. In some of his prison writings Fr. Delp stated: "My offense is that I believed in Germany and her eventual emergence from this dark hour of error and distress, that I refused to accept that accumulation of arrogance, pride, and force that is the Nazi way of life, and that I did this as a Christian and a Jesuit." In other words, Fr. Delp's freedom would have been compromised only if he had chosen to accept "the Nazi way of life." Even as he was imprisoned and ultimately hanged, his human freedom remained intact because he chose to remain obedient to his faith and to his Jesuit community.

Perhaps the reason that we, with our modern sensibilities struggle to appreciate how love and obedience conjoin to pave the way to freedom is because modern logic has now divorced the meaning of freedom from its existential roots. Freedom has become the ability to have what I want when I want it, and no longer a way of being that encompasses the totality of who we are.

The Gospel passage ends: "This I command you. Love one another."

Bonhoeffer explained his imprisonment as The Cost of Discipleship. Though he was a Nazi prisoner, his obedience to Christ had set him free. Though his life was at stake, he understood better than most that, his life was never at stake. His body may have been forced to acquiesce to a life not of his choosing; his obedience to Christ, however, even as a prisoner of war, allowed his human spirit to soar. Though his life is an example in the extreme, it beautifully illustrates the gift of life and human freedom when love and obedience commingle. By its very nature, it is a life revelatory of Christ himself, in whom we find our ultimate freedom. On a completely unrelated and still, very important subject, I wish to offer my most sincere Mother's Day greetings to all the mothers of the parish. Though it may have started out simply as a secular holiday, it is altogether especially fitting that we remember you and all of our dear mothers with great affection and love. There is nothing like a mother's love! Even after our mothers have been called home to God and we ourselves may be entering the final stages of our lives, the gift of a mother and her love remains a deep and abiding well from which we draw strength, hope, trust and the assurance that we are deeply loved. In so many ways, a mother's love is so very much like God's love for us. For that, all of us, or most of us, have reason to give thanks. Happy Mother's Day!

— Fr. John McGivern

The women of Chicago's west side and the near-west suburbs are invited to gather this summer to reconnect.

Shelby Boblick will facilitate the meetings, and we'll use as a catalyst the title of book, HEALING THE DIVIDE: Poems of Kindness & Connection. We need to heal, rekindle kindness, and connect.

Shelby will supply the poem(s) for each session and not all will be drawn from that book. No need to prepare in advance. If you'd like to bring a poem, prayer or reflection, you are most welcome.

We'll meet in person outside on the covered porch of Shelby's River Forest condominium. The building has elevator access. 9 women can participate in each session (plus Shelby). Only fully vaccinated women are invited. Please e-mail a copy of your vaccination card or bring it with you. We'll be seated 6 feet apart. BYO beverages. Face masks are required to enter the building & unit but are optional once outside on the porch.

Because attendance is so limited, you must e-mail or call Shelby to request any individual session(s) or the entire series. Shelby will follow-up by e-mail or phone to notify who is registered to attend which sessions. Every effort will be made to include everyone interested in at least 1 session, if not more.

We'll focus on different subjects each week. To accommodate a variety of schedules, we'll offer duplicate sessions each Monday: one at 1 p.m. and another at 7:30 p.m. Please request whichever time suits you and your life. No need to request the same time for each session.

500 Club Certificates

Our weekly drawings for the 2020-2021 season of the 500 Club through October 17th. Certificates are $25 each and will be included in each weekly drawing. The prize each week is $25 except for the three weekends when the prize is $500. We have now sold 422 of our 500 certificates! If we sell all 500 certificates as we did last season, there will be a 4th drawing for $500. Certificates may be for you, but they also make great gifts. We have had one $500 winner and a number of $25 winners whose certificates came to them as a gift. How nice was that!!! If you need a purchase form, they are available in the back of church and at the rectory office. You can also call Elaine Podraza for a form at 708-524-1461 or you can use Give Central on the parish website, www.stcatherinestlucy.org. The 500 Club is a fun way to support the parish and it is open to everyone over 18, not just members of our parish community. Please pass the word. Thank you!!!

MAY 16, 2021 — THE ASCENSION OF THE LORD

First Reading: Acts 1:1-11

Today's passage takes us back to the beginning verses of the Acts of the Apostles and sets forth the themes that Luke is going to develop throughout this, the longest book of the New Testament. His major theme is the rule of the Holy Spirit, who enables the apostles to be effective witnesses to Jesus. The Holy Spirit is mentioned 57 times in the Acts of the Apostles.

Second Reading:Ephesians: 4: I -13

Today's passage from Ephesians was chosen because of its reference to Jesus' ascent to heaven, which is contrasted with his descent to the dead. Early Christians believed that those who died before the coming of Jesus awaited redemption in a shadowy existence described here as the lower regions of the earth. It is our Christian tradition that immediately after his death, Jesus went to these people to announce that they had been saved,
